The signatories declare that they are authors or co-authors of the nominated manuscript and, therefore, they are also owners of their intellectual property rights and do not infringe the copyrights of third parties. They are responsible for any litigation or claim related to intellectual property rights, exonerating the Universidad ORT Uruguay of responsibility. They also state that they know and respect the editorial ethics and good practices criteria of the journal (Editorial ethics and good practices statement / <https://revistas.ort.edu.uy/inmediaciones-de-la-comunicacion>) and undertake not to submit the postulated manuscript for consideration to other publications while it is in the evaluation process.

Universidad ORT Uruguay reserves the rights to edit the journal. In this way, once the manuscript is accepted for publication, the authors consent to its publication in InMediaciones de la Comunicación, both in printed format and by electronic means, and other known or unknown devices, in open access and under the Creative Commons international license with Attribution 4.0 International (CC BY 4.0). The authors accept that their name be included in the publication, together with their unique registration code in ORCID.

- In summary, by submitting a publication, the authors accept the following terms:

-They are responsible for the application, the content and the opinions expressed in the manuscripts sent to InMediaciones de la Comunicación. They must guarantee that they are the owners or co-owners of the nominated manuscript and, therefore, they also own their intellectual property rights and do not infringe the copyrights of third parties.

-In the case of manuscripts postulated by two or more authors, they must indicate the order of appearance and, at the end of the manuscript, indicate in percentages the contribution made by each author.

-In the event that the submitted manuscript includes advances in research previously presented in Conferences, Colloquia and / or Congresses or has its origin in a graduate or postgraduate thesis, the authors must include an explanatory note indicating where they were first presented.

-They undertake to inform the Director, the Associate Editors, the Academic Committee and the Guest Editor when they detect a relevant error in the published manuscripts, in order to rectify and introduce the necessary corrections.

-They undertake to recognize and indicate possible conflicts of interest that could be perceived as bias in the manuscript. In this sense, and in the event that the authors of the manuscript receive any type of financial support, they must include a note indicating its origin.

- Rights of the author on the nominated manuscript

1- The authors declare that the submitted manuscript is original and an unpublished product of their research.

2- The authors declare to agree with the plagiarism policies expressed on the website of the journal InMediaciones de la Comunicación. Therefore, the authors consent to the use of the Turnitin tool to control plagiarism of the submitted manuscripts.

3- The authors declare to have rights and / or consent for the use of images and complementary information of the submitted manuscript.

4- In case the manuscript is accepted, the authors authorize the Universidad ORT Uruguay, to include the text in the journal InMediaciones de la Comunicación and be able to reproduce it, distribute it, exhibit it and communicate it both in the country and abroad by printed, electronic, CD, Internet or other known means or to be known whenever its use is intended to disseminate the work in the national and international scientific and academic community and no profit is pursued, while as author / s the moral and economic rights of the article will be preserved.
